MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

by Dr. Lauretta Manning

Dear fellow SLPs, Audiologists, SLPAs and soon-to-be professionals,

On January 26th, (with gavel in hand!), I had the pleasure of chairing the first Oregon Speech-Language and Hearing Association Board meeting of 2014 with a robust roster of committee and affiliate members. As a volunteer organization, we are so fortunate to have commitments from many gifted individuals, including higher education representatives and students from all three Universities!

Working in a school district, I have a tendency to become myopic about professional issues of speech-language pathology, so being involved in OSHA reminds me of the diversity and scope of our great field.

Honor an Unsung Hero

by Linda D’Onofrio

We work with brilliant clinicians and talented educators. We admire dedicated administrators and those working in the trenches. We should give shout-outs to our outstanding colleagues who go the extra mile. And it's so easy!

Legislative Update

by Karen Aguilera, Legislative Committee Chair

The short 2014 legislative session will be running throughout February, and our OSHA lobbyists have been busy searching for legislation of interest to OSHA. Last year, OSHA successfully lobbied for an SLP position on this board, that will help craft... Click to read about the bills we have been working on.

New CPT Codes and Home Health
by Nicole Collings, Healthcare Committee

New CPT Codes:
Implementation of the four new CPT (current procedural terminology) codes for speech-language pathology evaluations went into effect January 1, 2014. The codes are intended to be more specific and replace the old 92506 evaluation code...

ASHA will be releasing another article about the use of codes in the March ASHA Leader. In the interim, go to the ASHA website for more information and FAQs: ASHA Website Read more about Healthcare

Telepractice in Oregon
by Ashley Northam, SLPAC Advisory Member

Telepractice has become a hot topic in healthcare and the field of speech pathology lately. The services, technology and regulations are continuing to change at a rapid pace. It is important to be knowledgeable about your responsibilities and requirements if you do choose to provide therapy services through telepractice.

There are several pure telepractice companies that are trying to expand this market. Making services more accessible for clients/patients/students is a very good thing. However, one size does not fit all. The client/patient/student should be making progress and should be engaged in the session in some way Click here to read more about Telepractice in Oregon

ASHA Journals
by Ashley Northam, SLPAC Advisory Member

Remember when getting the ASHA Journals used to be a huge pain? This required you to remember a separate password and separate website. The good news is, that your ASHA password can now access all of these resources in one place. The ASHA Wire was launched in December to streamline these resources and offer a

Historical Clips about Oregon Speech-Language & Hearing Association

by John Tracy

This column will bring forward and describe some of the historical events that shaped the professions of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology in our state. Besides describing the event, I will offer what effect it had on the professions. The content will be a mixture of achievements in the political arena along with significant new strategies that were introduced in the past.

Speaking of history, if you missed the video "Celebrating 40 Years of Licensure in Oregon", shown at the Fall Conference of the Oregon Speech-Language and Hearing Association (OSHA) this year, here Click here to read more about the History of OSHA.

Practice Portal

by Ashley Northam, SLPAC Advisory Member

Do you know about ASHA's Practice Portal? It is an awesome resource available for members on the website. The Portal provides resources to assist in Evidence Based Decision Making pertaining to clinical and professional issues. The portal resources are organized by topic. Other tools such as Professional Issues, Evidence Maps, Handouts, and Templates are also available. More topics are being added as the site grows. Visit the ASHA Practice Portal.

Closing in on Universal Licensure for Oregon

by Wendy Gunter, Ashley Northam, & John Tracy

Although the Board of the Oregon Speech-Language and Hearing Association (OSHA), adopted a light touch, evolutionary approach to universal licensure at its October meeting, based on the recommendation of the Ad Hoc Committee on Universal Licensure; there was a nod to continue the effort to eventually achieve universal licensure. This small committee continues its efforts toward this end. Click to read more about Universal Licensure for Oregon
